Accommodation

Following Categorization (pending a formal agreement), JAXA will conduct an Accommodation Study of the Category I and II proposals, approximately as follows:

- JAXA will check if each proposal implies any additional burden on the spacecraft not directly related to the mass, power, and data limits described in the PIP.
- If any such burden is implied, JAXA will perform a trade study to weigh the merit against the increased resources needed elsewhere in the system.
- JAXA will write a draft report to NASA, mainly with regard to whether each proposal is acceptable. NASA will comment or ask for clarification; JAXA will provide the edited final report.
